A daughter of Abd-el-Kader recently arrived in Paris, for the purpose of entering the order of Gray Sisters. When the Emir, her father, resided at Baroussa, he sent the young lady to Constantinople to be educated. There she occasionally met with Christian women, and was so struck with the admirable self-devotedness of the Sisters who attended the hospital during the Crimean war, that she determined to join the order.

Achmet Pasha, late Governor-General of Achmet Pasha, late Governor-General of Damascus; Osman Bey, the commander of the Turkish troops, who allowed the Druscoto enter the Government House at Hasbeiya, and murder all the Christians who had taken refuge there; Eli Bey, who was a Colonel in the Turkish army, in command at Damascus, and did not make any efforts to put down the insurrection; and Mustapha Bey, who behaved at Rasheiya as Osman Bey did at Hasbeiya—were all shot, by order of Fuad Pasha, at Damascus, on the 8th of September, after a trial by court martial. The two sons of Kossuth had joined Garibaldi's army, as well as one of his nephews, the son of the lately deceased Madame Kossuth Zulavsky.

During the year ending April 30, 1860, there were exported from China to the United States 31,661,426 pounds of tea. The export to Great Britain for the same period amounted to 78,416,052 pounds.

At Milazzo, an incident occurred which Achmet Pasha, late Governor-General of export to treat britain for the same period amounted to 78,416,052 pounds.

At Milazzo, an incident occurred which deserves to be mentioned, as showing the singular character of Garibaldi. Finding his shirt dirty and soiled from his personal struggles, he took it off, wasted it in the brook hard by, and hung it up on the bushes, ate his lunch of bread, fruit and water, smoked his cigar, bare-backed, and wrapt in thought, sat apparently contemplating the drying of his garment—thus in the field and bivonac sharing danger and hardship with the humblest of his followers. Directly his shirt was dry, he went on board the Tukeri, formerly Veloce, lying in the bay on the western side of the peninsula, and personally directed her fire on the fortresses and retiring masses. ally directed meretiring masses.

retiring masses.

From the 1st of September, 1859, to the 31st of August, 1860, the number of days on which rain or snow fell in England was 194, the proportion of wet to dry days 53, or more than half. The majority of the remaining days were dull, even though they had been dry.

The Northern Whig (Belfast, Ireland,) says: Extensive works are in progress at different parts of the Old Castle at Carriekfergus, Antrim, preparing batteries to mount six Lancaster gaus. The masonry is of great strength, and, when the guns are in position, the whole Lough will be effectually commanded.

The statement that a cotton factory was about being introduced into Galway, by a great Manchester firm, was revived.

great Manchester firm, was revived.

A Mr. McCaul, a native of Glasgow, proposes to expend a sum amounting to £500,-000 on the improvement of the navigation of the Shannon, by diverting the course of the river from the point opposite Tervae, and directing its course straight through to meet the river below, provided he be allowed the land over which the portion of the river now flows, which he proposed to divert.

It was announced that the Legislature of Holland, which recently assembled, would take measures immediately to altogether abolish slavery in the Dutch West Indies.

ETIQUETTE AMONG Cows.—Cows are possessed of very susceptible feelings, and are remarkably sensitive to insulting or disrespectful conduct on the part of of their inferiors. In a herd of cows, the senior animal is the leader in all things, and maintains a strict authority over her younger compan.

ions. Not a single member of the herd dares to leave or enter the pasture until the dares to leave or enter the pasture until the leader has led the way, or even to take its food until she has decided whether she will take possession of the banquet, or permit her inferiors to eat in peace. Should a younger animal commit a breach of etiquette by infringing any of the tacit rules which have been in force throughout Cowdom from time immemerial, the delinquent is butted at and punished until it returns to its allegiance. To watch a calf through its various phases of existence is a most amusing enjoyment. When the young animal is introduced for the first time into the farm yard she is treated in a most supercilious manner by the previous occupants who look with an air of supreme contempt upon the new comer. She is pushed aside by all her predecessors, and soon learns to follow humbly in the wake of her companions. She cannot venture to take possession of a food-rack until all others have begun the meal. So matters go on for a while, until she has attained a larger growth, and a younger calf is turned into the yard. She now in turn plays the tyrant over the new comer, and receives no small accession of dignity from the fact of having a follower, instead of bringing up the rear in her own person. In process of time she makes her way to the head of the yard by virtue of seniority, and is then happy in the supreme rule which she enjoys. Sometimes a three-parts grown heifer is introduced into a barn yard, and in that case the new comer refuses to take her place below all the others, unless compelled to do so by main force. There is generally a considerable amount of fighting before such an animal finds her level, but when she finds her superiors and her subordinates, she quietly settles down in her place, and does not attempt to rise otherwise than by legitimate seniority.—

in her place, and does not attempt to rise otherwise than by legitimate seniority.— Routledge's Natural History.

Disposing of the Dead.—The Backtrians gave their dead to dogs kept for the purpose. In Thibet the same custom is still in highly honored observance: and it is professible to that of the Calatians, who piously devoured their own dead themselves. Again, the presence of a horse at the funeral of his once mattial master is a remnant of the old ceremony, when the steed was slain at the brink of the grave, into which he was then tumbled on the body of his old rider. This ceremony was performed as lately as the last century, at the funeral of a German Ritter, with a love for old times and their manners. Every nation considered its own fashion the most religious, and nothing seemed more disgusting to a Calatian who ate, or to the Balearic islanders who first chopped their dead into sausage-meat and then potted them for "preservation," than the Roman custom of incremation. Our Christian forefathers, too, had their vagaries. No one, for instance, killed when engaged in worldly sports, could be buried within the walls of church, unless he was slain at a tournament. Such an end showed him to be a "Christian gentleman," and the exception was made in favor of his gentility! A similar vagary, indeed, continued as recently as the last century at the parish church of Clifton, near Bristol, where the "Quality Vault" was especially set apart for the porcelain and not the common clay of humanity! This respect for the dead "cream of the cream" of society was carried to an abundant extent in France; as, for example, at the lying in state of the Dauphin, the first of the sons of Louis XVI. who bore that title. As the courtiers repaired to this ceremony, the groom of the chamber in waiting announced to the corpse the name and title of each person as he approached. What a contrast was presented by the maimed rites which followed the death of the second little Dauphin!—the undraped body on the wooden bedstead, the coffin of conn of rough fir-pianes, and the walk to the grave in the cemetery of St. Margaret!

Holloway's Ointment and Pills.—
Anglo-Indians and natives during the rainy and cold seasons are particularly obnoxious to gout, theumatism and fever,—Holloway's Preparations then become a treasure impossible to over value. Contracted joints, rubbed with this penetrating Ointment, soon recover their flexibility. The local pain and inflammation in gout and rheumatism are invariably relieved by it. Even in cases where limbs have been partially paralyzed they have regained the power of motion and original vigor. Neuralgia, tic-doloreux, and all other affections of the nerves of sensation or motion, may be cured with equal facility by the same means. The Pills, by their direct operation on the blood and all the secretions, ever form a noble auxiliary to the Ointment.

Reciprocity Treaty.

A Reciprocity Treaty, guaranteeing Reciprecity of Trade between these two colonies and the United States is a question that has occasionally been agitated in these colonies-Some years ago the question came under the consideration of the government; but the results were nothing. During the preparations for a general election a year ago the question was somewhat discussed, but since that it has apparently been unheard and unthought of. They who ought to have have unfortunately brought it to maturity treated Reciprocity of Trade as a chimerical idea, and imagined it to be the height of folly to suppose our Republican neighbors would concede so great a commercial boon -more particularly as our ports were free and a protective tariff unmentioned. We have invariably opposed so narrow a view of the question. The possibilities of negotiating a Reciprocity Treaty are greatly in favor; and if negotiations ware entered into and urged with proper spirit, we have not a shadow of doubt but both California and Oregon with our Territorial neighbor, would cordially second our efforts, and the Federal Government concur with our wishes

All the British North American provinces trade with the United States. Thus commercially they are one people; whilst politically they are distinct: The one spreading from sea to sea its republican institutions, and the other sinking the roots of monarchical principles, deep within the soil, producing the outburst of loyal enthusiasm witnessed during the tour of the Prince of Wales. Nothing during the present cen-tury has done more to ward off any feeling of annexation between the Provinces and the mammoth Republic than reciprocity. Formerly shut out from the markets of the States by a protective tariff, it was natural commercial men who witnessed the similarity in the state of society in the colonies and the Republic, to incline towards annexation. It was not that they regarded British connection less nor had less love for monarchial institutions; but the almighty influences of a gain of twenty and thirty per cent on provincial shipments, was too powerful a temptation to be long withstood. Prominent statesmen in both countries could not fail to observe the tendency of things. Washington Slaveocracy found annexation would be a change in the balance of power. Imperial statesmen saw the commercial advantages, and the maintenance of British prestige on this continent. The treaty was consummated; and since then the commercial advantages have been immense to the provinces-one of whom alone has increased her tonnage eighty per cent; and the aggregate of trade on both sides of the line has been augmented far beyond the expectations of the most enthusiastic advocates of reciprocity.

The exceptions to reciprocal trade among the British dependencies in North America are the Hudson Bay Co.'s territories with Red River and these colonies. Red River has been agitating the question of reciprocity for some time. Her inland position naturfor some time. ally forces her to look for supplies from American markets. Minnesota is aware of the advantages. To reach Red River merchandize must pass through Minnesota. The old route by Hudson Bay is fast becoming obsolete in comparison with the course of trade via St. Paul's. Were we, therefore, to open negotiations with the Federal Government, in addition to aid from the Pacific States, we could not fail in securing the assistance of Minnesota and Red River, and the countenance and support of the sister provinces. The latter looking to federation of the provinces, uniting all from Vancouver Island to Nova Scotia, would naturally enough second efforts to augment the wealth and increase the population of the three Western colonies that they might be admitted members of the confederated Provinces of British America. The new interest created in England in favor of the Provinces, by the visit of the Prince of Wales, could not fail to induce the Imperial Government to frankly concede to us a semitreaty-making power, sufficient at least to open negotiations on the subject of reciprocity, ensuring the assistance and concurrence of Her Majesty's Government.

In the Fall of 1858 after the, rush to this country and British Columbia, our San Francisco neighbors set down the imigration as a mere excitement and the country as an unproductive waste, yielding neither exports nor possessing resources to support population. Their exports to this port alone in which amounted to $1,413,226 was placed to the account of an inflated bubble. steady increase of imports, overbalanced with over two millions of dollars in gold dust in 1859 established these colonies the principal foreign customer of San Francisco. This year our rank has been acknowledged; our steadily increasing trade, our large exports in gold exceeding in the yield either California or Australia when the annual sum total is compared with the aggregate population, has completely refuted the idea of that we are a bubble community. We are California's best foreign customer we are prosperous; and our prosperity tends to enrich our neighbors. A Reciprocity Treaty therefore would aid materially in promoting commerce between the two countries. California, Oregon, and Washington must supply us for years with the chief ar-ticles of consumption. As Boston and New York are to the Eastern Provinces, so will San Francisco be to the Western Provinces. She will be our principal market. The more population we have, the larger our purchases from our neighbors. American vessels which now do all the carrying trade would profit largely by Reciprocity; and in return we would prosper by the constant development of our industrial resources. An assorted cargo could be made up of coal, lumber, fish, oil, and other commodities. Had we Reciprocify. Vancouver coal which now pays 24 per cent, duty would enter free-a large profit On fish, salmon, and codfish, of itself. smoked or dry, oysters &c., there is 15 pe cent duty; on lime, 8 per cent; on lumb 15 per cent; on fish oil,—sperm, whale, cod, cent. We might enumerate other comme ities ; but we have instanc. denough to show the gain by Reciprocity, by placing our-selves on the same footing as our Republican neighbors in their own markets.

Indications of coal crop out on the West Coast; a large lumber district exists there. Were we by reciprocity to become commercially American, capital and enterprise would soon make the West Coast resound with the hum of industry. The shipping interest would be naturally promoted. vessels that bring cargoes here, go to Puget Sound for return cargoes of lumber or coal.
A loss of eight days on the voyage generally takes place, from the time they leave here to load till they return opposite this port The expenses of a ship for eight days would nearly all be saved by loading to the westward of Victoria. The saving thus of ex-pense, and coal, and lumber, fish and oil being allowed to enter free of duty, would certainly give an impetus to industry and ornmerce that would as onish the most rdent advocate of a Reciprocity treaty.

The "Weekly Colonist."

To-day we commence a second volume of the Weekly edition of the British Colo-One year ago to-day, we commenced the publication of that sheet, for the convenience of our friends in the interior; and also to afford parties residing here an opportunity of sending to their friends in other lands, an occasional copy, thereby giving them a correct idea of the resources and general news of the two colonies- an opportunity they could not have otherwise enoyed without considerable expense in the item of postal charges.

The WEEKLY COLONIST, from the very day upon which it was first issued down to the present time, has met with a suc cess and circulation far exceeding our most sanguine expectations. About two months since we commenced the publication of a containing eight additional "supplement" columns of solid reading matter, which we have continued ever since without additional cost to our subscribers.

For the future, we can only say that our purse shall be the same as heretofore Fearlessly independent, we shall continue to do battle for the People's cause, of whose entire approbation we are daily receiving the most substantial proofs. Our energy shall also be directed towards improving our daily and weekly issues; and to that end we shall spare neither labor nor pains.

TO PROTECT A SHINGLE ROOF FROM FIRE.-As this is a town containing a large number of wooden buildings, nearly all of which are covered with shingles, it would not be out of place, we think, to publish the following receipe, for protecting the same from fire, which we find in an exchange:

fire, which we find in an exchange:

"A wash composed of lime, salt and fine sand, or wood ashes, put on in the ordinary way of white washing, renders the roof fityfold more safe against taking fire from cinders, or otherwise, in case of fires in the vicinity. It pays the expense a hundred-fold in its preserving influence against the effect of the weather. The older and more weather-beaten the shingles, the more benfit derived. efit derived.

PRISONERS FROM NANAIMO. Yesterday morning, three sailors arrived in town, per bark Woodpecker, from Nanaimo, in charge of a special constable. They were convicted before the stipendiary magistrate at that place of having beaten the second officer of the bark Cleopatra-to which vessel they belonged—and were sentenced, two of them to two months and one to one month's imprisonment. The officer was badly pummelled, and the prisoners say was the ag-

THE NEW WESTMINSTER ADDRESS. - A ommunication was read in the New Westminster Town Council, a few days ago, from the Governor General of Canada, acknowledthe Governor General of Canada, acknowledging the receipt of the New Westminster Address to His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales; but, unfortunately for the ecuncilmen who were such ardent seekers after notariety, the Prince had left Canada when the address arrived. The Council are given to understand, however, that it will be sent after His Royal Highness.

STEALING BOTTLES .- Two Hydah Indian women were arrested for stealing two bottles from the premises of Saml. Price and Cos., rom the premises of Saml. Price and Cos, to the value of one shilling and upwards. They were convicted before the magistrate vesterday morning, and ordered to find security in the sum of £1 each, to be of good behavior for two months, and to pay costs of arrest. In default of such security, 14 days imprisonment. days imprisonment.

ROYAL THEATRE. - This evening, the lau h-ROYAL THEATRE.—This evening, the fau hable burlesque of "Catching a Governor; or, a Countess for the Hour;" "The Clown Outwitted;" and the "Lottery Ticket; or, the Lawyer's Clerk," will be presented, together with a ballad from Miss Susan, a banjo the Lawyer's Son, gether with a balled from Miss Susan, a banjo solo by Master Gus, and a comic song by Mr. Burton. On Monday evening, benefit of Miss Susan Rotinson.

HARD TO DISTINGUISH .- White cravats (vulgarly called chokers) are just now becoming the rage in Paris. If the fashion becomes general, it will be extremely diffi-cult for a stranger io distinguish a fast young man from a devout clergyman.

A Howler.-A Hydah Indian, while drunk, kicked up a great noise by howlings on Johnson street late on Saturday night. He was fined five shillings by the megistrate yesterday.

Another book auction will take place this evening, in the large room at the rear of Stationers' Hall.

The bark Woodpecker arrived in our harbor yesterday morning, laden with coal intended for the San Francisco market.

The steamer Otter carried up 156 sone of freight on Thursday night.

Sr. Andrew's Day.—" Scotia's Sons" To the Electors of Esquimalt Town siding in our midst vesterday calabrated residing in our midst, yesterday celebrated St. Andrew's Day in a very appropriate manner. At one o'clock, the members of the Society bearing the name of that Patron Saint, assembled at their rooms in the Police Barracks, and after the installation of lice Barracks, and atter the Instantion of officers for the ensuing year proceeded in a body to the Congregational Church on Fort street, where a most impressive sermon was preached by the Rev. Mr. McFie, who is Chaplain of the Society. During the day the American and British flags were flying from a staff erected in front of the Colonial Hotel, and the colors of the Society. nial Hotel, and the colors of the waved over the residence of its worthy President, Captain James M. Reid. At eight o'clock, a large company of gentlemen sat down to a most sumptuous dinner (at which His Excellency Governor Donglas presided) at the Colonial Hotel, during the progress of His Excellency Governor Boughas presided) at the Colonial Hotel, during the progress of which the greatest enjoyment and good feeling seemed to prevail. The band of H. M. S. Topaze was in attendance, and delighted the company with some of their sweetest airs during the progress of the repast. At a late hour the company separated for their homes, evidently much pleased with the day's enjoyment. In our next issue, we shall go more into details, being prevented from so doing this morning from a lack of space. space.

CONVICTED .- Stilters, the Hydah chief arrested for selling whisky to certain mem-bers of his tribe, was yesterday morning convicted and fined £10. Stilters is repre convicted and fined £10. Stilters is represented to have made a great deal of money by selling whisky, and is one of the most cunning of those engaged in the trade. He buys his liquor by the cask and conveys it in his canoe to the camp, and from thence to his house. There he places it in a hole, and whenever an order for a bottle comes, raises the required quantity by means of a very ingenious pump, made of wood, something after the style of a Sipron,—and has been known to retail a ten-gallon keg in the course of a day.

A PLACE WHERE WOMEN CAN'T GO the Duomo, or Cathedral at Genez, Italy, there is an apartment styled the Chapel o St. John the Baptist. The interior is adored with statues, bas-reliefs, and shrines of conwith statues, bas-reliefs, and shrines of considerable beauty. There is a small sarcophagus over the altar which is said to contain portions of the bones of St. John the Baptist. No female is allowed to enter this chapel under any circumstances. This exclusion of females was imposed by Pope Innocent VIII., in recollection of the daughter of Herodias, who would be satisfied with nothing less than a present of the head of St. John the Baptist on a charger; and her royal father accordingly struck off the saint's head and placed it at her disposal.

COLWOOD FARM SALE .- The sale of live stock, yestercay, was concluded. Th prices obtained for sheep were generally fair—20 ewes brought $7 each; 20 lambs, fair—20 ewes brought $7 each; 20 lambs, (Southdowns) $6 25; another lot of ewes sold for $8 25, which was the highest snm o tained for sheep; wether lambs, $5 12-12. Pigs sold uncommonly well—six young pigs sold for $2 each; sows from $6 50 to $10; half-grown pigs at $4 50, and upwards. Horses also sold well. The highest price paid for a work-horse was $105; and the lowest $50; a mare and coit brought $35. and another, $47; a mare, $56; two colts, two-year olds, sold for $32 and $83; each. Poultry—eight moscovite ducks yell for $22; eight white geese, $10 per per pair.

House of Assembly.
FRIDAY, Nov. 30, 1860.
House met at half-past two o'clock. Present—Speaker Helmeken, Messrs. Foster, Crease, Green, Franklin, McDonald, Wadent—Speaker Helmeken, Messers, Foster, Crease, Green, Franklin, MeDonald, Waddington.

The bill for the Incorporation of Victoria was read a second time and passed,—and the House went into consideration of the Council Amendments to the One Per Cent Tax Bill. The amendments being unimportant, were all agreed to by the House.

**REGISTRATION ACT.**
House in Committee on the Council amendment to the Annual Registration of Voters' Bill, which, with one or two further amendments, passed in Committee, and the Chairman, Mr. Waddington, so reported to the House. The first registration under this act will take place in January next following the passage of the bill, and the bill provides for the legality of the present lists until new ones are provided.

The House then adjourned until Monday, at 2 o'clock, and will then have a third reading of the Registration of Voters' Bill, and go into Committee of the Whole on the Inclosure Act and Incorporation of the Town Bill.

CITY TRADE REPORT.

FRIDAY EVENING, November 30, 1860. ely feeling was manifested in the market wing to considerable orders from the wand Washington Territory—the latter resterday, owing to considerable orders—the latter ipper country and Washington Territory—the latter of which is a rapidly growing trade, and well worth I which is a rapidly growing trade, and wen Work ostering. The fact is daily becoming more appa-ent that Victoria must eventually be the great mar-et of the Northern Coast for assorted goods; and if the free-port system be continued, we should not essurprised if, before long, even Oregon commenced trawing heavily upon our market for many articles. GENTLEMEN :- A vacancy having occurred Gentlemen:—A vacancy having occurred in the representation of your Town by the resignation of Mr. G. T. Gordon, I beg to offer myself as a candidate for your suffrages at the approaching election.

I can assure you that it is not empty ambition, or the gratification of personal vanity that prompts me to offer myself; on the contrary nothing could have induced me to have done so but the solicitations of many electors and friends, who feel confident that if I am returned I may be enabled, if not to promote your interests, at least to try and prevent abuses.

your interests, at least to try and prevent abuses.

My political principles are well-known to you; I have always advocated the greatest amount of rational freedom and have steadily set my face against all abuses wherever they may exist, and shall never swerve from this course, and having a good deal of property at stake in the colony I think offers some guarantee that my own interest, in common with yours, would naturally prompt me to endeavor to promote the progress and prosperity of the country.

I will always assist the government for the time being to carry out all measures (that in your opinion as well as my own) may be conducive to your interests and the welfare of the country, and will oppose most strenuously all acts that interfere with the rights and liberties of the people or retard the progress of the country.

The real question to be decided is not whether I or another man is to represent you, but whether law and the rights of the people are to be sustained or trampled under foot. In the one case you sanction the destruction of the most sacred bulwark of the elective system; and, in the other case, by returning an independent man to represent to not the most sacred obtwark of the elective system; and, in the other case, by returning an independent man to represent you, you thereby vindicate a most hallowed right, and show your disapproval of an unjust and iniquitous act.

I have the honor to be, Gentlemen,

Your most obedient servant, JAMES M. REID.

COLONIAL THEATRE.—" The People's Law-er," and "A Glance at New York," the yer," and "A Glance at New York," the latter introducing all the original songs, etc., as played in New York several years ago, is offered at the Colonial this evening. The bill is an excellent one, and will no doubt draw well. On Monday evening, benefit of Miss Lulu Sweet.

The Sound of Growing Corn.—Did you ever hear corn grow! You have probably heard the remark: "Our corn grows so fast that you can hear it" That is supposed, by the people who don't know, to be a figure of speech only: but the remark out here is a literal fact. Go into one of these "bottom" corn-fields, forty or fifty rods, on a warm July day, or August night, when a bright moon is up (for vegetation grows faster in moonlight than in darkness) and a few hours after a heavy shower, that has fairly wet the earth, and waked up the drowsy corn to its influence, and as the main stalk stretches and swells in its new strength up through the contracted lips of the upper blades, they crack and burst around you like the stifled reports of ten thousand rifles. That corn-field will be some inches higher next morning at sunrise than at the last sundown. There is no mistake about it. We have heard corn grow many a time, and so every farmer along in the Sciota Valley will tell you.—Illinois. many a time, and so every farmer along in the Sciota Valley will tell you.—Illinois (U. S.) Paper.

One of the hardest trials of those who fall from affluence and honor to poverty and obscurity, is the discovery that the attachment of so many in whom they confided was a pretence, a mask to gain their own ends, or was a miserable shallowness.

The greatest charm of books is, perhaps, that we see in them that other men have suffered what we have. Some souls we ever find who could have responded to all our agony, be it what it may. least, robs misery of its loneliness.

Do No doubt there is room enough in the world for men and women, but it may be a serious question whether the la ter are not taking up more than their share of it just now. Vide crinoline.

Sir," said a woman to a loafer, "if you do not send home my husband's clothes I will expose you." "If I do I shall expose myself," was the cool reply.

ng The Albion, in speaking of the sad fate of the two English ladies who recently lost their lives by their dresses taking fire, says they were "burnt offering to the Moloch of fashion."

Nothing more completely baffles one who is full of tricks and duplicity, than straight forward and simple integrity in

DRUGS & MEDICINES.

THE WORLD'S FRIEND! Holloway's Ointment.

A Cure for Piles and Fistulas.

Inflammation of sensitive parts, piles, fistulas, and such like painful diseases may be presently relieved, and ultimately cured, by the proper and diligent use of this cooling and healing () intment, whose action should, in such cases, be assisted by judicious doses of Pills: ere many days have elapsed the auxious patent will experience a wonderful degree of ease from this treatment. They are equally suitable to both sexes, and all ages. Coughs, Colds, and Asthma.

Coughs, Colds, and Asthma.

These complaints of the chest come on with alarming frequency. The Ointment should assiduously be rubbed at least twice a day on the chest and between the shoulders, when the violence of all symptoms will gradually give way, the breathing become longer, and the oppression less. No medicines are more efficient in chest complaints, none can be used with equal safety and certainty. Both Pilis and Ointment are accompanied by very clear and simple directions for using them. " From the Kilrush Advertiser, June 2nd, 1860.

This man, said Mr. Cox, became by their use as sound and as healthy as any man in the room. These celebrated I'lls and Ointment will cure any wound, sore, or uler, however long standing, if properly used according to the printed directions.

Count and Rheumathsm. Gout and Rheumatism.

The essence of these diseases lie in the blood, which has, floating through each vessel, the pain-giving poison, which irritates and inflames every tissue it comes in contact with, and produces the hot, swollen, elastic enlargement about the joints so characteristic of gouty diseases. The philosophy of cure consists in overcoming this depravity in the blood, which is rapidly purified by the use of the Pills The Ointment, when rubbed upon the skin, penetrates the system through the pores, acts in unison with the Pills, and soon effects a cure.
